Great Brickhill First Aid Policy

Great Brickhill Cricket Club recognises it's responsibility for the provision of first aid trained personnel sufficient to provide emergency first aid to Club Members and non-Members in the event of an injury or sudden onset, or worsening of an illness whilst on Club premises or when involved in cricketing activities and at Club Events.

First Aid must only be administered by a qualified and Club authorised Member with a valid first aid qualification. First aid certificates issued under the Health and Safety (First Aid) Regulations 1983 are valid for 3 years from the date of the examination. First aid certificates provided by the ECB approved body are recognised as sufficient to meet the Club Mark Accreditation.

It is the responsibility of the Club authorised Member to ensure that their certificate does not expire and that refresher training is undertaken in good time, contact the Club Executive Management Committee for information on how to obtain refresher training.

The Club recognises that it is foreseeable that a first aid qualified Member may also be in a situation where a non-Member requires first aid whilst at the Club during cricketing activities and at Club Events; such circumstances will be covered by the Club's insurance policies. All Coaching personnel are expected to maintain their ECB Coaches Association membership which provides sufficient further individual insurance cover.

The Club's insurance will not, however, provide personal or public liability protection to first aid trained and authorised Members who administer first aid outside of cricketing activities or Club Events to non-Members, for example assisting a member of the public in the street, on a train etc.

A record of any incident in which any person required first aid whilst on Club premises or when involved in cricketing activities and at Club Events must be made as soon as possible using the appropriate Incident Form found in the Admin folder located in the Clubhouse.
